Urges Probe Of Award Of Army Decorations

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—Representative Gulliver, Democrat, Massachusetts, urged today that more distinguished service medals be awarded to those who have served in the army during the war.

"It is common talk in the army," said Mr. Gulliver, "that our present crop of staff and one of its assistants, a colonel, whose duty it was to escort and direct foreign missions here in Washington, have no space left to wear their medals and their colors to display the medals that have been given them as a result of this service."

"The distinguished service medal has been cheapened and certainly not by the bold and brazen manner in which it has been passed out to those who have not earned it," said Mr. Gulliver. "It has been used as a reward for friendship; it has even been used to please those who have been removed to make way for some one else."

"The reading of the sum total of the medals in award to the distinguished service medal to several chief officers of the general staff who never left the general staff who never left the war was fought with red ink a mauling desks near the shadings of the Washington monument."

"As for France, wherever the commander in chief went a 'commissioned messenger boy' on an errand the D. S. M. was sure to be the reward."

"In Washington we had four different chiefs of staff during the war and every one who knows anything at all about the workings of the war department knows that the predecessors of the present chief of staff, General Peyton C. March, were not equal to the task. Through no fault of their own, they were removed."

"Unhappily, when a man has failed his performance of any specific task he is removed with regard. These men, on the other hand, were rewarded in the name of the president of the United States by the bestowal upon them of the D. S. M."

"The failure to send Major General Daniel Wood overseas in command of the 'Army of the West' is a case of international notoriety," Mr. Gulliver said, adding that General Wood "was never given an important assignment during the war, but to placate public opinion."

"The bestowal of the D. S. M. on General Wood," he continued, "is a case of international notoriety."

The Little Woman With A Big Job

The inspiring success of Mrs. Jane Carroll, organizer, who manages a vast export business, points the way to a woman's broader work. Her story is a fascinating one. Don't fail to read it in next Sunday's Times.

Inquiry also should be made into cases of civilians who received medals, declared Mr. Gulliver, who charged that Eisenhower, of Cleveland, "who was mixed up in the clothing and shoddy craft and also in the rag picking craft, appears to have got a medal."

"It has been whispered that other junk men have been so honored," said he.

To Pay Tribute To Army Nurses

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 13.—Governor Cox was requested today to call the attention of the citizens of Ohio to a movement for the observance of Sunday, January 25, as a day on which we pay tribute to the American women who served our country in the army nurse corps. Citizens of the state are requested to wear a rose on that day in honor of the American women who are called "the rose of no man's land."

Japs To Withdraw Warships

PARIS, Jan. 13.—Japan has decided to withdraw her warships from Peking, China, where they were sent some weeks ago, owing to the maltreatment of Japanese subjects; according to information received here by the Japanese delegation to the peace conference.

2 WOMEN ON COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 13.—Appointment of a committee of 17, including two women, to arrange for the Democratic national convention at San Francisco on June 28, was announced today by Chairman Cummings of the national committee. This will be the first time women have had a hand in the preliminary arrangements of a presidential nominating convention.

Chairman Cummings will lead the committee and the members will be Mrs. George Bass, Chicago; Mrs. May E. For, Los Angeles; J. Henry Kramer, Montana; William M. Marshall, Iowa; Edward G. Hoffman, Indiana; Clark Howell, Georgia; Norman E. Mack, New York; Fred B. Lynch, Minnesota; Charles Boeschenstein, Illinois; E. H. Moore, Ohio; Arthur F. Mullen, Nebraska; Dr. John W. Connelley, Massachusetts; Andrew J. Bockwiler, California; John T. Barnett, Colorado; Patrick H. Quinn, Rhode Island; and Robert H. Elder, Idaho.

The first meeting of the arrangements will be held in San Francisco, probably within the next sixty days, Mr. Cummings said. The committee will be divided into seven sub-committees, dealing with specific phases of the convention.

The committee also is considering proposals to provide funds for the expenses without going into the general revenue fund. One proposal contemplates making the state industrial commission self-sustaining. This would be accomplished by using interest on the workers' compensation reserve fund and if necessary increasing compensation premiums. The expense of maintaining the department now is borne by the state out of the general revenue fund. Departmental expenses, such as salaries and many others, which now are self-sustaining, would provide money for the increase by increasing assessments and fees now paid by concerns supervised by the department.

OPERATORS DEMAND RESERVATION ON COAL COMMISSION'S AWARD

OPERA SINGERS PAY FOR APPLAUSE

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Singers of the Chicago Grand Opera Company have been paying for applause at the rate of from $30 a week to $20 a performance, according to statements of Charles Fontaine, French tenor, and Alessandro Delli, Italian tenor, made public today.

An assistant stage manager, the tenors said, was head of the clique, and obtained the money under promises of "hand claps, cries of 'bravo,' 'encore,' 'bis,' or 'terzo,' to 'cut off their artists' heads."

Herbert Johnson, comptroller of the company, said he had heard rumors that "somebody was shaking down" the artists and that a circular letter was sent to the singers last month advising them it was unnecessary to pay for applause.

Fontaine said the clique leader told the applauders, whom he stationed about the theater, what singers to applaud, when to start a demonstration and what artists to make the singers repeat so that the artists' reception would appear "wildly enthusiastic."

Delli said he defied the clique leader, Eleonora Campanini, former director general, now dead, (and him not to heed the demands for money or the threats. Delli said that Campanini said he had been giving the man named as clique leader, 25 tickets for friends of the chorus or persons who helped with odd jobs.

MYSTERIOUS INTESTINAL MALADY SPREADS IN THE SOUTHWEST

SENATE HEAD AS GOVERNOR

TRIDENT, N. J., Jan. 13.—Clarence E. Case, Republican, as state president, succeeded William N. Runyon as acting governor of New Jersey, at noon today, pending the inauguration next Tuesday of Edward I. Edwards, Democrat, who was elected on a "wet" platform.

Mr. Runyon, as senate president, succeeded Governor Walter E. Edge, when the latter was elected to the United States senate. In his farewell message to the new state legislature which the Republicans control, Mr. Runyon urged its support of his Democratic successor, regardless of party, unless "through mischance or otherwise he shall give his backing to anything that is unworthy."

He recommended that "no step be taken which might be interpreted as a nullification of the federal prohibition amendment. He also said that while nullification of the woman suffrage amendment seemed "extremely probable" at this session of the legislature, he hoped that nothing would stand in the way of the attainment of that end."

TEACHERS TO BE THOROUGHLY FINISHED

The initial meeting of the Teachers' Training class last night at the First Presbyterian church brought out a good attendance of teachers from all departments of the school. The superintendent, Mr. George Scudder, and Rev. D. C. Boyd, the pastor, were in charge.

The text book is "Thoroughly Finished," the 1919 revision being used, the spring session of the class covering Part I, by Dr. H. T. Coleman, on "The Pupil." The first half-hour session will be regularly given to lecture and discussion on the text book; then the class divided into five groups, by departments, in charge of their departmental superintendent, and spending the remaining period in a careful going over of the two weeks advance lessons for their own classes. This practical division of the hour has strongly appealed to the teachers, as the broadly graded system gives the same lesson each Sunday to all the classes in each department.

The newly appointed departmental superintendents, upon whose shoulders much of the burden of Sunday School detail will fall, are: Senior—Mr. Wm.

H. Schwartz; Intermediate—Mr. Harry E. Smith; Junior—Mrs. J. W. Ricker; Primary—Miss Margaret Ricker; Beginners—Mrs. Fred DeBoer.

Sessions of the Teachers' January class will be held twice a month, on the second and fourth Monday evenings, from 7 o'clock to 8 o'clock. The first meeting of the month will be at the church, the other at some one's home, at which time a social hour will follow the hour of work and study. All teachers in the school, and those who are planning to teach are expected to attend. Visitors are always welcome.

The Sunday School at "Old First" still maintains the steady climb upward which began the first of October the attendance on Sunday—418—being another high water mark. Seven classes registered 100 per cent attendance the following being the proud teachers: Miss Sallie Knowles, Miss Ellen Ouellet, Miss Katherine Appel, Miss Mae Ricker, Miss Margaret Lester, Miss Henrietta Baker, Miss Beattie Smith. The Primary and Beginners' department passed the 100 mark. The new tables and kindergarten supplies with which they began the New Year have proved very fascinating to the little folks. Three new tables are ordered for next Sunday.

Poslam Likes Bad Cases Of Fiery Eczema

When Poslam takes hold of a stubborn and stubborn eczema, it soothes and cools at once, putting a stop to the terrible itching. On raw parts of the skin it feels immediately grateful. As Poslam continues to penetrate there develops just as the healing process needed. Contrast the ease of healing with the severity of the trouble, and Poslam's work seems remarkable indeed. One source of Poslam is worth a pound of ointment of any other.

HINTS OF SPRING

The New Coats and Suits

Yes, hints for spring, just as indisputable as the first robin himself, are daily arriving in increasing numbers at this store. They coax one to forget that out of doors all is wet and cold and disagreeable, perhaps, and remind us that soon we may substitute thoughts of new Spring apparel for our concern over the price of coal and other winter commodities. The latest harbingers are number of delightful modes in Spring Coats and Suits, which are noticeably new at first glance. It's time to begin viewing these for Spring will soon come upon us.

The Suits

The Suits are of Jersey, Tricotine and Serge, mostly, and you will at once note the lighter shades typical of spring among the more conservative navy which continues to be a favorite. Buttons and braid supplant the heavier fur trimmings of the winter suits and the modes are altogether delightful. Prices $39.50 and up.

The Coats

You know they are Spring coats the minute you see them for they get away from the sombre shades of winter. Here we find bright shades in the new Blanket Coats and Light Spring mixtures in the sport styles, all ready to don and get out with the robin. These coats start at $19.75. Second floor

Notices Her New Strength At Housework

Says Home Duties Are Master
Since She Took Vola-Tonic

"I'm so much stronger since I have been taking Vola-Tonic that I can do my housework," said Mrs. F. M. Wambach, 1100 W. 10th street, Madison, Wis., who writes from her home in Madison, Wis., to the editor of the Portsmouth Daily Times.

"I've only been taking Vola-Tonic about three weeks, too," Mrs. Wambach added.

"Before I took Vola-Tonic my stomach was out of order and I was weak and run down generally. My appetite and digestion were so bad that I missed a great many meals altogether and when I did eat down to a well I ate very little. My digestion was so poor that often I think my food lay in my stomach from one meal to another without digesting. Of course this made me feel mighty bad."

"Vola-Tonic has put my stomach in excellent condition. My digestion is good now and my appetite has come back fine."

"Vola-Tonic also made me a great deal stronger. I can notice it when doing my housework because my duties are a great deal easier."

"I gladly recommend Vola-Tonic to everybody."

"Vola-Tonic, 'Builder of Strength,' invigorates the entire system. Vola-Tonic brings a good appetite and then helps the stomach take strengthening nutrition from food to nourish and build up the system all over. Vola-Tonic also soothes the nerves and permits sound, energy-restoring sleep every night. As a result, full strength and health soon return to the weakened, run down man or woman."

"Vola-Tonic, 'Builder of Strength,' is being specially introduced in Portsmouth at Fisher and Streich's—adv."

LOCAL PEOPLE TO ATTEND BANQUET

Everything is set for the big sportsmen's congress and banquet in Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 15th. There will be an afternoon and an evening program, with a banquet at six p. m. Speakers of national reputation in the work of game conservation will be on the program, and Governor Cox will address the sportsmen in the evening.

The assembly will be held at the Elks' home on East Broad street in front of Hotel Desiter as first announced. At least 100 sportsmen and farmers are expected. One of the leading objects of this meeting is to bring about a friendly cooperation and better understanding between farmers and sportsmen in fish and game matters, and the movement for "More Game and Better Hunting," that is being instituted by A. C. Baxter, Chief of the Bureau of Fish and Game.

The Ohio Fish and Game Motion Pictures, which have been made by the Bureau of Fish and Game during the present year, will be shown for the first time at this affair. These pictures are both educational and entertaining.

The following local people will attend the banquet, leaving here Thursday morning: Harry W. Miller, Henry Winter, Dr. G. H. Williams, L. Taylor, B. E. Pritchard, Adolph Glickman, Gilbert S. Wilson Calls First Meeting Of League Council To Be Held In Paris On Friday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—First meeting of the council of the League of Nations will be held in Paris, Friday, beginning at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. The call for the assembly, which went out late yesterday, was issued in accordance with the terms of the Versailles treaty by President Wilson, whom the treaty makes designated for that duty. It went to the ambassadors of the entire nations which have ratified the treaty and will not be made public until it has been received from them by their governments. The call is said to have been brief.

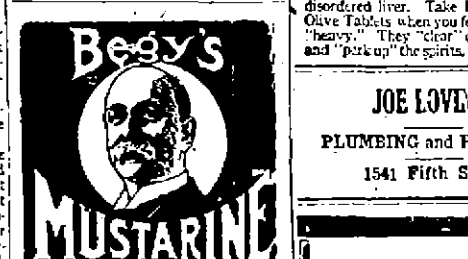

The most important business to come before the initial meeting of the council will be that of setting up the various commissions upon which will devolve the task of carrying out certain provisions of the treaty.

I'm Nervous People Should Try Drink- ing Water and Systoxem

After Breakfast, Dinner and Supper For Two Weeks
Thin, nervous, run-down men and women seldom figure out the true cause of their delicate condition, which is usually due to thin blood and hungry nerves. As a rule they do not get the necessary chemical substances for increasing red blood corpuscles, treating the blood, nerves and system with the Sustoxem so necessary for promoting active metabolism—that wonderful process in the human body that changes the food we eat into healthy tissue, bodily vigor, energy and power of endurance.

If you are thin, nervous or run-down, you owe it to yourself to try this new method. Simply take two Sustoxem capsules and a glass of ordinary drinking water after meals three times a day for about two weeks. They weigh yourself and feel what you have gained. The city drinking water here is considered good for this purpose. Sustoxem is dispensed by Jones Pharmacy, Webster Bros., Trevelyan Pharmacy, and other good druggists everywhere.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. There little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They do not injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dizziness" and that lousy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" the bowels and "put up" the spirits. 10c and 25c.

Bryan Says Treaty Should Be Ratified By January 16

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 13.—William Bryan told members of the Lincoln Commercial club here last night it was infinitely more important that the treaty be ratified before January 16 with concessions by both sides in the treaty fight than to continue a state of war for fourteen months until the people could decide in favor of ratification at the coming election.

Mr. Bryan expressed the belief that the senate would ratify the treaty Friday as the United States could enter the League of Nations at its first session on that day. He denounced what he said were accusations of republican newspapers that there had been a split in the democratic party over the League of Nations covenant.

The most important thing, he declared, was to secure ratification of the treaty and it comprised efforts to this end between democratic and republican senators failed, the matter could be turned over to the republicans who would be responsible if it was not settled to the satisfaction of the people.

Mr. Bryan reiterated his belief in a "break" between him and President Wilson over the treaty. Neither knew what the other was going to say relative to the League of Nations.

Dispute Over Property

The suit of Thomas J. Basham against Oscar Moore, Julia Moore and others, to settle a dispute involving the property at 209 Campbell avenue, came to trial before Judge Thomas in common pleas court today. The property in question was sold by Basham to the Moores, and he took a mortgage for the deferred payments, but failed to have his mortgage recorded. Later the property went through a succession of deals and finally the title passed to Miss Kate McMillan, who again mortgaged the premises. Basham is now seeking to enforce his lien on the property as against the claims of the others, and the Moores are seeking to retain possession of the house under a reservation in the contract at the time they disposed of the property to W. T. Tripp. A number of real estate dealers who were connected with the various deals involving the premises were called to testify in the case. Quite an array of attorneys appeared in the case, Blair and Blake representing Miss McMillan, Miller, Miller & Seall for

Orders New Car

Joseph L. Allen has placed his order for a 1920 Scripps-Booth touring car with the Superior Motors company, the machine to be delivered in February.

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hayward and children died today with Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hayward and Miss Hayward. The occasion celebrates the first birthday anniversary of Ellen, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hayward.

Mrs. Sophia Wilson and daughter, Katherine, of Portsmouth, spent Sunday among friends in relatives.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the Sedgwick M. E. church will meet Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. David Edwards. Miss Price of Portsmouth, corresponding secretary of Portsmouth District, will be present to talk on the work.

The Juvenile Mission Circle of Bigelow church will meet at 2:30 on next Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Katherine Oldfield, 634 Front street. All children of the circle who have not handed in their birthday pennies are asked to bring them to this meeting. All Bigelow children are invited.

Mrs. J. D. Ross of Center street, has recovered from a severe attack of the grip.

Alkali In Soap Bad For The Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use. One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dirt, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified-coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy; it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

DON'T SUFFER WITH NEURALGIA

Use Soothing Musterole

When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skull seems as if it would split, just rub a little Musterole on your temples and neck. It draws out the inflammation, soothes away the pain, usually giving quick relief. Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Many doctors and nurses frankly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite—cold of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). It is always dependable. 25c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

Mr. J. J. Hardin of Walter street, went to Dayton today on business.

Mrs. C. O. Dodson of Hammond, Ind., Mrs. Curtis Heer and Mrs. Charles Hall were guests at the Hamilton Winter Club meeting held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. T. Halldeman on Gallia avenue. A delicious refreshment course concluded the interesting afternoon of bridge.

Employers Promised Help

From Terroristic Outbreaks MADRID, Jan. 12.—Representatives of all employers in Spain visited the courts this afternoon for the purpose of interviewing political leaders on the possibility of legislation intended to check terroristic attacks and disorders in several cities, including Madrid and Barcelona. They were promised help by political leaders.

INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes Disordered Stomachs feel fine at once!

Stomachs of undigested food causing pain. When your stomach is acid, it is messy, sour or you have heartburn, flatulence, headache or dyspepsia, there is speedy relief—no waiting. Eat a tablet or two of Pape's Diapepsin and instantly your stomach feels fine. All the indigestion, pain, flatulence, acidity and misery in the stomach caused by acidity ends. Pape's Diapepsin tablets cost little at any drug store but there is no faster or quicker antacid known.

Like Being Hit By Rattle Snake

Says that every time you cut or pick at a corn you invite lockjaw

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poisoning now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out with the fingers, without one particle of pain.

This freezezone is a sticky substance which dries the moment it is applied and just looses the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It says a quarter of an ounce will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but this is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus. You are positively warned that cutting or picking at a corn is a suicidal habit.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford Model T One Ton Truck was the first low price truck to carry the worm-drive—that tremendous power delivering mechanism had previously been an exclusive feature with high priced motor trucks. In the Ford Truck, however, you get the worm-drive of manganese bronze material, absolute in strength and positive in the delivery of power, at a very low price. Come in and let us point out the many superior merits of the Ford One Ton Truck, because you need one in your work. We give prompt and efficient repair service.

SOLVAY WINS HOTLY CONTESTED GAME

It was not a game as has been played this year, with the Solvay, seeing back and forth, and the men on both sides fighting like tigers, with the Solvay taking the lead and ending the first half with the score of 14 to 12 in their favor.

The Solvay took the lead to start with. The Solvay passed them about the middle of the half, but the Solvay again took the lead and ended the first half with the score of 14 to 12 in their favor.

In the second half, the Solvay started off with a rush, Williams throwing two baskets in quick succession. The Solvay lured, and overtook their opponents. For ten minutes the score was even and tied at 24. Then Solvay threw a basket and took three, giving the Solvay a lead of three, with a couple of minutes left to play. Things looked bad for the Solvay when Lavender threw a goal, but the Solvay won the game by the score of 28 to 23.

The small score was due, not so much to poor basket throwing, as to bad work of the guards. Frazier's work was especially good; he undoubtedly won the game for his team, for when Williams got a good shot at the basket he generally caged it.

The line-up was as follows:

| Solvay | Williams |
|---------|----------|
| Walters | Williams |
| Walters | Lavender |
| Walters | Bohner |

Hurrah For Wilhelms

Thanks to the great work of John Wilhelms, the Kentucky, collar change in the Duck 100 League, was three in a row from the Hornets at the Play House, last night. Wilhelms has been on edge all season, found out last night and hung up a "D" that will make Ed Deach and Harry turn green with envy. He scored with 133 and then came through with 180, the high game of the season. He finished with 113, giving a total of 433 for the evening, or average of 113. Outside of Wilhelms, nothing else worth mentioning in the headlines. The scores:

| Team | W. | L. | P. |
|---------|----|----|-----|
| Shelby | 30 | 23 | 423 |
| Walters | 31 | 21 | 551 |

Irrepressible Fight
It was like a runaway engine down the track, with the Solvay taking the lead and ending the first half with the score of 14 to 12 in their favor.

Mat Artists Superstitious; Bout Put Off Till Thursday

One of the best wrestling matches of the season is promised Thursday night of this week when Young Herman and Joe Willis clash in a finish bout at the Victory Hall. The element of superstition was shown by both men when they asked that the date be changed from Tuesday, the usual night on which matches are held here, on account of that day falling on the 13th of the month.

After the match, the players in the revamped league. First and foremost they hung up the high single game for the season, ditto on the total for three games and one of their players, C. W. "Bud" Walters, the Wheelersburg Granger, made the high total for three games, when he clipped off 812 pins. He came within an ace of getting a single high score when he made 243 in his sandwich game. Outside of winning three games and breaking all records, Walters, the invincibles did not do much. And right here let it be said with considerable emphasis, that the invincibles are not going to be the regular champs for 1919-20. They may not win the pennant for the first half, but they are going to have a whole lot to say as to where the confusion goes.

When they can shoot 244 during a single engagement, they must be reckoned as some bowling team. The acquisition of their star anchor man, Mr. Walters, has rounded out the team to perfection and the players are so shot full of pep and courage that they are thinking of hurling a den to the four winds of heaven. Walters, was of course, the shining light of the fracas. He was off to a rather poor start when he got hit 195 in his opening game.

PEACE NOW THEIR PORTION

THE Democratic politicians of the state, who found themselves between the devil and the deep blue sea, in the assumed clash and contest of Senator Pomerene and Governor Cox for the presidential delegates from Ohio, and thought they saw therein the wreck and ruin of the party, can now possess their souls in peace.

Governor Cox is not being a candidate for president, at least that seems the reasonable conclusion from the speech he made at Cincinnati, Saturday. From the general tenor of his remarks it is to be judged that any understanding that he was altogether gratuitous in no way has been given such intimation and the thought that he might be his not least attraction for him. Indeed, it has been unhappy office holding and its trials are familiar to him. Experience has taught him its perplexities and strain, especially in the changing and chaotic conditions of the past few years, and they tend rather to cause one to long for the peace and rest of private life, rather than beckon him to like fields far more hardensome and trying.

In public place, as Governor Cox says there is the comfort and glory of doing the best one can for the people, of the loyalty and help of devoted friends, but, which he does not say, there is counter to this rank ingratitude encountered, the unfairness of opposition that finds fault, no matter how effective the duty done and above all the harassment of the unworthy for place. And in this latter lies one of the most inexplicable crimps of human nature. If one be the head of some personal enterprise and one come asking him for a place and is turned down there is no feeling of resentment over the refusal, nothing but a just disappointment. But let a man occupy a political position and some fellow comes seeking a job and be turned down, bitterness, resentment and rapid opposition rise in the disappointed one, though the chances are he was altogether unfit for the position. Yes, the more unfit he be the more implacable will be his hate.

As to Pomerene and Cox? It would have been a pretty scrap with both in the ring and worth seeing. Still let it be taken as for the best that such is not to be. For here is the war ended a year and some months and we have not settled down into the sweet ways of peace and quietude. It is first one thing and another, vex, annoy and disturb, with hell threatening to break loose, and anything escaped and thereby tending to bring a lull is a mighty blessing and ought to be mightily welcomed.

HE STANDS FIRST OF ALL

CARDINAL MERCEUR, the King and Queen of Belgium, and the Prince of Wales, all prominent personages, made favorably acquainted to us by the war, have visited these United States and been made welcome. Premier Clemenceau, "The Tiger of France," in the ordinary course of events to be made president, is also coming as their guests and he too will be made welcome.

The man, though, that the country will be most pleased to see, there being intimation he will come this way later on, is Marshal Foch. In him seems to be the embodiment of the virtues of all the others, the piety and devotion of the good Mercer, the service and sacrifice of King Albert and his sweet spouse, the patriotism and determination of Clemenceau, the hope and youth of the English lordling. But above and beyond that he is so silent and so gentle of a courage that seemed to possess his soul of its unflinching purpose and conviction. Yes, he the mighty leader of mighty host, who trusted in his armies, had had simple faith in the mighty Lord of all hosts and let no morning sun arise before he had gone down on his knees and humbly and confidently beseeched Him for guidance and victory—the man trusted by all others, but so meek of self that he leaned implicitly on his God. So, indeed, it is the people want to see this man, who in the midst of relentless strife could possess his soul in patience, in the midst of horrible din remain calm and serene, who when the clouds hung lowest and darkest, when despair filled the hearts of nations, was serene and confident, the man, who buoyantly and with unbroken step marched over every obstacle to a foreordained end.

MAY BE A GOOD TOKEN

THERE may be a lesson in thrift in the fact that the United States mints coined a total of 735,612,000 subsidiary coins, that is of pieces representing less than a dollar, none of the latter denomination being turned out, except for the Philippine Islands, Siam, Salvador, Nicaragua, Venezuela and Peru.

And you, probably, would not guess that the lowly and despised penny exceeded them all, its mintage in numbers being more than one and two-thirds greater than all the others. This may be surprising to us westerners, who haven't yet learned to place any store by the one cent. Yet, it is a fact the rest of the country has or else the production thereof would not be so great. Possibly, one explanation of the apparently excessive demand for them may be found in the fact that they are indiscriminately handed to small children who lose a great portion of them and millions pass out of use because they are laid down and disregarded as of no value, being pretty much of a nuisance to carry. But those pennies minted last year, if they were all owned by one person would make him a millionaire several times over and enable him to put on airs that are ordinarily ascribed to the millionaire. If we had them about the first disposition we made of a few tens of thousands of them would be to donate them to cleaning up Portsmouth's alleys, which, heaven, knows, need to be cleaned badly enough.

SHE MARRIED AN AVERAGE MAN

Athena and I resumed our discussion of the family over the tea-cups today. Athena is for the idea of a grandmother for the second time only. A week ago, her daughter, Evie Bishop, having just distinguished herself by presenting to the world another son.

"How are they?" I asked, with a new interest.

"Splendid, both of them," smiled my beloved friend, lifting the lid off her cake luxuriously (Athena is thin and can indulge in things).

"Evie's like me; she doesn't make a fuss over trifles. So, only afraid she'll have a dozen or so."

"Well, why should she?"

"What? On Phillips' two thousand a year? See here, Ann, I'm an advocate of the complete well-proportioned life, with no valuable experience left out. But heaven knows I'm not a fanatic. I think two healthy, well-cared-for children will be a happiness and inspiration to Evie and Phillip. But twelve would be their ruination."

"My grandmother had fourteen," I put in blithely.

"How many of them lived?" snapped Athena.

"Eh—eh—eh, let me see; six, I think."

"There! You see? And your grandmother died at fifty, probably."

"At forty-one," I corrected. "She was married at sixteen. She was a poor woman, who accepted her husband and children as part of the Divine Plan. She would have been unutterably shocked at the suggestion of regulating the size of her family. She considered it the gift of God."

"Well, aren't sickness and death gifts of God, too? Yet nobody thinks it sinful to prevent pneumonia or cure

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Harry Piller, a young east side boy, who gained fame as the dancing partner of Gaby Deslys, is turning the Apollo cafe in Paris now that American jazz music is further cementing French-American ties his place is becoming a rendezvous.

It is near the Montmartre district and Piller, who is appearing in a French revue next door, runs in between acts to dance with American sightseers.

The Apollo is trying to be a strictly Dubouché resort and with the borders of Americanism going to Paris now, instead of New York—for an occasional fling young Piller is becoming rather by several thousands every week. Once a week Gaby shows up at the Apollo and dances with Piller and this proves a great drawing card. A negro crew of jazzers from Birmingham furnish the whiff, syncopated notes.

A writing friend returns from Paris to tell me that he saw a comic opera star, three writers, two pugilists and a novelist at tables in the Apollo and the place did fair to be like the place run by a Swiss publican named Piller in the late forties. The restaurant was near the old Broadway Central hotel and it was the first of the Bohemian colonies in Gotham.

The chief attraction from the brilliant of the muses were poodles and here and it was at Piller's that George Clemenceau visited often when he came to America long before his over-ambition of world power. Among the other patrons were William Winter, foremost theatrical critic, E. C. Steedman, the poet, and James O'Brien, a gifted young Irish writer. There was Artemus Ward who found congenial company at Piller's.

Just as Piller came to America and founded a strictly Dubouché resort, as it is reported Piller is doing in Paris. Piller is a product of Broadway and his manner and dress are typical of the street. He had the general shivers and the loudest, shouting, scowling along the thoroughfare. It is told that in his most startling checkered suit and haledashed to vie with the rainbow. Piller stood one day looking at the Grand Canyon.

A morning picture actor on his way west was going along with a guide when they came upon Piller. "What do you think of the scenery?" asked the guide with a wide sweep of his hand.

The movie actor, unable to move on account of his fascination for Piller's clothes, replied: "Snapped scenery I ever saw off Broadway."

Since every look-alike on the East Side has decided that it is no use to be anything but a few remain open. The problem of the welfare workers is to provide some place for the men who played a game of cards or chess and drank a glass of beer in the back room of a saloon. Many of them, it is said, were steady workers who were induced and had no other place to spend idle moments. Some have taken to moonshine whiskey. A noted social worker in an address the other night declared that now that prohibition was becoming an actual condition it was up to New York to provide places of recreation or poor men's clubs for those driven from saloons.

New York grammarians are all fused up over the correctness of this sentence: Alfred, than who a greater prize never reigned, deserves to be held up as a model to all future sovereigns. Grammar sharks say "whom" is wrong. It should be "who" and others state for sake of euphony it should be "whom." Others too say "whom" is correct. I think grammar depends upon surrounding. I know a such as playing a pool game saying: "Whom do I follow?" It was too gosh awful educated for pool.

"Just a Minute"

"I have only just a minute." Only sixty seconds to it. Forged upon me; can't refuse it. Didn't ask it, didn't choose it. But it's up to me to use it. I must suffer if I lose it. Give account if I abuse it. Just a tiny little minute, But Eternity is in it.

Voces On a Parlor Rug

Our parlor rug was rugged when in years gone by, we'd buy a rug. And now, when buying chuck and sole, The dear old thing looks mighty old.

Silently bedded its years of strife, Being stepped on all its life; Something ought to be done, we know; But to fetch a new one—what a blow!

You dear old worn-out rug! There is no chance that you'll shiver; So keep on lying at our feet, While old and frayed, you're hard to beat.

WHO'S WHO In The Days News

FRANCIS P. GAVAN

Francis P. Gavan, who has been nominated by President Wilson to be assistant U. S. attorney general, was born in East Hartford, Conn., forty-four years ago, and was educated at Yale University and the New York Law School. He was admitted to the New York bar in 1899, and two years later was appointed deputy assistant attorney of the county of New York by District Attorney Phillips, in which capacity he served for eight years. For most of this period he had charge of the homicide bureau and insurance and commercial frauds, and assisted in the trials of Roland Mollath, Albert T. Patrick and Harry K. Thaw.

After William became district attorney Mr. Gavan became a member of the firm of Gavan & Armstrong, and later of Gavan, Jacob & Gavan. In November, 1917, he was appointed director of the bureau of investigation in the attorney general's department, and in that capacity served as the assistant of A. Mitchell Palmer, the then property custodian, until February, 1918, when he himself took over that work. In June, 1919, he was appointed special assistant attorney general of the United States and was placed in charge of the investigations of the activities of the anarchists.

He was married to a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony N. Brady in June, 1910.

Little Moss's Congratulations

A young planter in Mississippi, who had an old servant called Uncle Moss, who had cared for him as a child and whose devotion had never waned. The young man became engaged to a girl of the neighborhood who had a reputation for unusual beauty and also for a very violent temper. Nothing that Uncle Moss ever mentioned his approaching marriage, the planter said:

"Moss, you know I am going to marry Miss Currier?"

"Yes, sir, I know it."

"I haven't heard you say anything about it," persisted the planter.

"No, sir," said Moss. "I ain't to say nothin' 'bout it. I's got nothin' to say."

"But you must have some opinion about so important a step on my part."

"Well, sir," said the old negro with some hesitation, "he knows one thing—the most pizenous snakes has got the most prettiest shins."

NUXATED IRON

"Say, Doctor, This Prescription Works Like Magic!"

Physician Says Nuxated Iron Quickly Plus Astonishing Strength and Energy Into the Veins of Men and Brings Roses to the Cheeks of Nervous, Run-Down Women.

Ask the first hundred strong, healthy people you meet to what they owe their strength and see how many reply "Nuxated Iron." Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Quadrant Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, says: "Thousands of people suffer from iron deficiency but do not know what to take. There is nothing like organic iron—Nuxated Iron, to enrich the blood, make beautiful, healthy women, and strong, vigorous men. To make absolutely sure that my patients get real organic iron and not some form of the metallic variety, I always prescribe Nuxated Iron in its original packages. Nuxated Iron will increase strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down folks in two weeks' time in many instances."

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron recommended above by Dr. Sullivan can be obtained from any good druggist with or without a physician's prescription or an absolute manufacturer's guarantee of success or money refunded.

BILLY WHISKER

Of course, there was no answer from Billy Whisker on the porch below when Mr. Wagner stuck his head out of the upstairs window and said, "Who's there?" Billy stood as still as possible to listen and see what Mr. Wagner would do next. Then Billy walked to the edge of the porch and heard Mr. Wagner say again: "Who is there? Can't you answer, or are you deaf and dumb?"

Still no response, and Billy walked back and gave another lick of the bell, which immediately gave another loud ring. Mr. Wagner drew his head in and Billy heard him say, "I'll come down and break your stupid head for you, wakening people up this time of the night." When Billy heard this, he thought that it was time to go, so he scooped around the house and went and lay down by his rope, just as if he were still tied and had not stirred a peep.

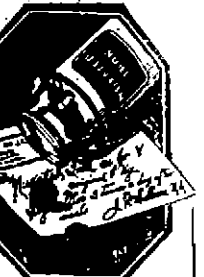

Mr. Wagner opened the door, and finding no one there, walked around the house holding a candle over his head to see if some tramp had not rung the bell. He thought that he heard steps on the veranda as he came to the door, but no one was in sight, only Billy Whisker, apparently asleep by the shed.

"Hello! Billy, old fellow, how are you getting on?" Seen anyone around here lately?"

But Billy only blinked and laughed in his skin to see Mr. Wagner prancing around, with the follow from the candle dropping on his head.

Mr. Wagner went in and was about to get into bed, when he thought he saw in the moonlight a figure come out of the shed and go toward the house. The moon went under a cloud just at that minute and was hid from sight, so he kept still, straining his eyes to see and his ears to hear. He heard the chain rattle on the bucket at the well.

"Oh! ho!" he thought, "the tramp thinks that I have gone to bed, and that he will get a drink, and then crawl around some more. Well, we Will see. I will just get my shirt and fire a shot to scare him. If he does not answer."

So grabbing his gun, which always stood by the window looked for him, he called out again:

"Who is there? Speak, or I'll shoot!"

As the words left his mouth, an object started on a run from the well, and Mr. Wagner fired, not stopping to see what it was, but supposing it to be a man. Just then, the moon, which had been under the cloud, and there in the moonlight lay poor Billy Whisker, shuddered and nearly frightened to death, with a dead wound in his side. When Mr. Wagner saw what he had done, and that it was only the goat, he pulled down the window, and went to bed, too mad even to go to see if the goat was dead or not.

The next morning Billy was as lively as ever, only a little faint from loss of blood and rather subdued. The children bathed his wound with white wash, and after a good breakfast, he was as well as ever, and ready for play or work.

Of course Mrs. Wagner said, "I told you so," several times, only to wonder it with, "Yes, you just wait and see, that goat will get into more trouble than he is worth just see if he won't."

When she said this, she did not know of the midnight deed off for the lettuce he had had in the garden.

Billy did not go into much mischief during the remainder of the day, except checking up the distillery with two boys on the blue truck to the well and all the flowers of the garden. (Copyrighted by the Safford Publishing Co., Akron, O.)

PLAN OF PASSING INCOME TAX LAW AS REPUBLICAN PARTY MEASURE HAS BEEN ABANDONED

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 13.—(By telegraph.)—The plan of passing an income tax law as a party measure was abandoned today. The plan of George H. Clark, chairman of the Republican state advisory committee, to have the Republicans assume responsibility for passing an income law did not meet with favor, members found, as they canvassed the situation during the day.

It is an income tax bill was passed, it was said, it will have to come through the joint taxation committee, and Democrats as well as Republicans will have to share in the responsibility for it. There was said to be sentiment among Senate members for introducing another income tax bill in the Senate, similar to the one recently introduced. It would provide a general income tax of one-half of one per cent in the state, allowing cities to levy additional amounts on personal incomes, according to their local needs.

J. S. Martin, director of law of Toledo, and other Toledo citizens have come to Columbus to appear before the committee in favor of the passage of the Branch Street Railway bill, authorizing cities to purchase street railway lines. Hearing of the bill was postponed until tomorrow morning in order to give all parties interested time to see representatives here.

The bill sponsored by Congressman Lewis of Lima, to build a great waterway from the lakes to the Ohio river, was considered for a public hearing before the public utilities committee of the house and senate in the senate chamber tomorrow evening.

School teachers and others interested in the school revenue bill will be heard before the joint taxation committee tonight.

Wilson Calls First Meeting Of League Council To Be Held In Paris On Friday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—First meeting of the council of the League of Nations will be held in Paris, Friday, beginning at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. The call for the assembly, which went out late yesterday, was issued in accordance with the terms of the Versailles treaty by President Wilson, whom the treaty makers designated for that duty. It went to the ambassadors of the entente nations which have ratified the treaty and will not be made public until it has been received from them by their governments. The call is said to have been brief.

The most important business to come before the initial meeting of the council will be that of setting up the various commissions upon which will devolve the task of carrying out the provisions of the treaty.

MYSTERIOUS INTESTINAL MALADY SPREADS IN THE SOUTHWEST

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 13.—Whether the mysterious intestinal malady, which has affected several hundred persons in Kansas and Oklahoma, exists in other communities of the southwest today was a matter for speculation. Pending reports, officials of the two states were trying to identify the disease and employ means for checking its spread.

Topoka, Kansas, and Muskogee, Oklahoma, apparently were the worst sufferers. At Topoka 200 cases had been reported and unofficial estimates placed the number at 1,000. Many school children were among those ill. At Muskogee there were about 300 cases. No fatalities were reported at either place and the death list from the malady remained at four.

all at Skiatook, the little Oklahoma town where it first became prevalent. The situation at Skiatook was believed to be under control, however.

Conferences of physicians were held last night at Topoka and Muskogee. Some of the doctors expressed the belief that the malady was a form of dysentery, while others were of the opinion it was a gastric form of influenza.

CHARGED WITH MURDERING HIS WEALTHY MOTHER-LAW

MARSHAN, WIS., Jan. 13.—Dr. J. A. Freudenberg, charged with the murder of his wealthy mother-in-law, Mrs. Nettie Duffies, by injecting mustard into her bladder, today was in jail at Green Lake without bail. Under the law, bail cannot be fixed until after the physician's preliminary hearing January 22. His arrest yesterday followed quickly upon discovery of evidence, according to District Attorney Paul, leading to show that Dr. Freudenberg might have brought about Mrs. Duffies' death to prevent her marrying a third time, and that the doctor had purchased mustard.

Bryan Says Treaty Should Be Ratified By January 16

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 13.—William J. Bryan told members of the Lincoln Commercial club here last night it was infinitely more important that the treaty be ratified before January 16 with concessions by both sides in the treaty fight than to continue a state of war for fourteen months until the people could decide in favor of ratification at the coming elections.

Mr. Bryan expressed the belief that the senate would ratify the treaty next Friday so the United States could enter the League of Nations at its first session on that day. He denounced what he said were accusations of republican newspapers that there had been a split in the democratic party over the League of Nations covenant.

The most important thing, he declared, was to secure ratification of the treaty and of compromise efforts to this end between democratic and republican senators failed, the matter could be turned over to the republicans who would be responsible if it was not settled to the satisfaction of the people.

Mr. Bryan reiterated his denial of a "break" between him and President Wilson over the treaty. Neither knew what the other was going to say relative to the treaty prior to the Jackson Day banquet recently held at Washington, he declared.

Reed Says President Forced To Submit League To People

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 13.—Calling attention to recent statements by President Taft, of Harvard, former President Taft and William Jennings Bryan on the League of Nations covenant, United States Senator Reed, Democrat of Missouri, in speaking here last night before a banquet of St. Louis citizens opposed to the League of Nations, said:

"This one by one the roses fall. All three of these men have now said that Article Ten should not be adopted unamended," asserted Senator Reed, said and added:

"In view of the fact that the President has declared Article Ten is the backbone of the League, it appears that at least Brothers Taft, and Taft think so little of the scheme that they are willing to leave it spineless."

No Other Place to Go

"Having been defeated in his attempt to correct the League into something to suit his demands, the President is now willing to go to the people," said the Senator.

"In point of fact, there being no other place to go, the people are to have their inning by ex necessitate."

"A number of senators, including myself, have from the first insisted that American people should and must be consulted. Now that the President has performed a feat of that contention, and because there is no other way out, agreed to let the people decide, everything ought to be unanimous. For I assume those senators who have irregularly, each morning, repeatedly exclaimed: 'We pray thee, oh, most wise, tell us what we are to believe today,' will now more recognizing their master's voice and obedience go to hell."

MALE EMPLOYEES COME FIRST

State employees now receiving less than $2000 a year are to be given first consideration by the legislature in the matter of salary increase. The committee tentatively decided last night that in this class, ranging from $1000 to $2000, some of the state's low paid employees of state institutions probably will receive a greater percentage increase, a salary of employees now receiving more than $2000 will be considered last.

The committee also is considering proposals to provide funds for the state without going into the general revenue fund. One proposal contemplates making the state industrial commission self sustaining. This would be accomplished by using interest on the state's composition reserve fund for necessary increases in compensation of its employees. The expense of maintaining the department now is borne by the state out of the general revenue fund.

Other proposals, such as increasing salaries and many others, which now are being considered, would provide for the increase by increasing revenues and fees not paid by the state, supervised by the department.

Invincible Break Records

Going like a runaway engine down hill, those invincibles, who have graced the cellar in the Maskee League for the past several months, rise up in their might at the Play House alley, last night, and not only handed their opponents, the Lemons, three licks to the better side, but made all sorts of records—incidentally smashing all former achievements of the players in the revamped league. First and foremost they bring up the high single game for the season, ditto on the total for three games and one of their players, O. W. "Bud" Walters, the Wheelersburg Granger, made the high total for three games, when he clipped off 612 pins. He came within an ace of getting the high score when he made 243 in his sixteenth game. Outside of winning three games and breaking all records against the Invincibles did not do much. And right here let it be said with considerable emphasis, that the Invincibles are not going to be the cellar champs for 1919-20. They may not win the pennant for the first half, but they are going to have a whole lot to say as to where the gamelan goes. When they can shoot 245 during a single engagement, they must be reckoned as some bowling team. The acquisition of their star anchor man, Mr. Walters, has rounded out the team to perfection and the players are so shot full of pep and courage that they are shaking of hating a del to the four winds of heaven. Walters, was of course, the shining light of the fracas. He was off to a rather poor start when he got out 100 in his opening game. But after that he went down the line like a reaper in a field of wheat and topped the pins with the rapidity and accuracy of a giant center. He had high score within his reach in his big game (but his last ball got away from him and he made but six pins on his double strike, keeping him 2 pins under Ed Leach's score of 244. McKelvey was the second best shot of the Invincible line-up with States a close third. W. E. Clayton came fourth or fifth as you want it, with H. H. Higgins bringing up the rear in order and with much jump and ceremony. William Zottmann was the king bee for the Lemons. He seems to have recovered his form and he shot for a total of 831. With "Bill" out there the Lemons are sure to go much better. Johnson was second, Captain Lemon third, Ed Ricker fourth and Fred Klingman last, despite the fact that he hit 'em in about the right place. The scores:

Milwaukee Club Sold

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 13.—The Milwaukee American Association Baseball club has been sold by Clarence Rowland and Hugh Brennan to a local syndicate at a figure said to approximate $100,000. William H. Park, formerly a Milwaukee newspaper publisher, is said to be among those acquiring the property.

Harley Has Coach Offer

COLUMBUS, Jan. 13.—"Chile" Hurley, Ohio State's premier athlete, has been offered the position of head football coach at the University of Idaho, according to news brought back by Dr. Wilce, chief of Ohio State's football forces, who Saturday returned from a speaking tour through the West. It is not likely that Hurley will accept the position, however, as he has been eager to complete his scholastic work at Ohio State next fall.

Mat Artists Superstitious; Bout Put Off Till Thursday

One of the best wrestling matches of the season is promised Thursday night of this week when Young Herman and Joe Willis clash in a flash bout at the Victory Hall. The element of superstition was shown by both men when they asked that the date be changed from Tuesday, the usual night on which matches are held here, on account of that day falling on the 13th of the month.

PEACE NOW THEIR PORTION

THE Democratic politicians of the state, who found themselves between the devil and the deep blue sea, in the assumed clash and contest of Senator Pomeroy and Governor Cox for the presidential delegates from Ohio, and thought they saw therein the wreck and ruin of the party, can now possess their souls in peace.

Governor Cox is not being a candidate for president, at least that seems the reasonable conclusion from the speech he made at Cincinnati, Saturday. From the general tenor of his remarks it is to be judged that any understanding that he was altogether gratuitous. In no way has he given such intimation and the thought that he might be has not held any attraction for him. Indeed, it has been unhappy. Office holding and its trials are familiar to him. Experience has taught him its perplexities and strain, especially in the changing and chaotic conditions of the past few years, and they tend rather to cause one to long for the peace and rest of private life, rather than beckon him to like fields far more burdensome and trying.

In public place, as Governor Cox says there is the comfort and glory of doing the best one can for the people, of the loyalty and help of devoted friends, but, which he does not say, there is counter to this rank ingratitude encountered, the unfairness of opposition that finds fault, no matter how effective the duty done and above all the harassment of the unworthy for place. And in this latter lies one of the most inexplicable crimps of human nature. If one be the head of some personal enterprise and one goes asking him for a place and is turned down there is no feeling of resentment over the refusal, nothing but a just disappointment. But let a man occupy a political position and some fellow comes seeking a job and be turned down, bitterness, resentment and rabid opposition rise in the disappointed one, though the chances are he was altogether unfit for the position. Yes, the more unfit he be the more inapplicable will be his hate.

As to Pomeroy and Cox? It would have been a pretty scrap with both in the ring and worth seeing. Still let it be taken as for the best that such is not to be. For here is the war ended a year and some months and we have not settled down into the sweet ways of peace and quietude. It is first one thing and another to vex, annoy and disturb, with hell threatening to break loose, and anything escaped and thereby tending to bring a lull is a mighty blessing and ought to be mightily welcomed.

HE STANDS FIRST OF ALL

CARDINAL MERCEUR, the King and Queen of Belgium, and the Prince of Wales, all prominent personages, made favorably acquainted to us by the war, have visited these United States and been made welcome. Premier Clemenceau, "The Tiger of France," in the ordinary course of events to be made president, is also coming as their guests and he too will be made welcome.

The man, though, that the country will be most pleased to see, there being intimation he will come this way later on, is Marshal Poch. In him seems to be the embodiment of the virtues of all the others, the piety and devotion of the good Mercier, the service and sacrifice of King Albert and his sweet spouse, the patriotism and determination of Clemenceau, the hope and youth of the English lordling. But above and beyond that he is so silent and so gentle of a courage that seemed to possess his soul of its enflaming purpose and conviction. Yes, he the mighty leader of the mighty Lord of all hosts and let no morning sun arise before he had gone down on his knees and humbly and confidently beseeched him for guidance and victory—the man trusted by his God. So, indeed, it is the people want to see this man, who in the midst of relentless strife could possess his soul in patience, in the midst of horrible din remain calm and serene, who when the clouds hung lowest and darkest, when despair filled the hearts of nations, was serene and confident, the man, who buoyantly and with unbroken step marched over every obstacle to a foreordained end.

MAY BE A GOOD TOKEN

THERE may be a lesson in thrift in the fact that the United States mints coined a total of 738,642,000 subsidiary coins, that is of pieces representing less than a dollar, none of the latter denomination being turned out, except for the Philippine Islands, Siam, Svalbard, Nicaragua, Venezuela and Peru.

And you, probably, would not guess that the lowly and despised penny exceeded them all, its mintage in numbers being more than one and two-thirds greater than all the others. This may be surprising to us westerners, who haven't yet learned to place any store by the one cent. Yet, it is a fact the rest of the country has or else the production thereof would not be so great. Possibly, one explanation of the apparently excessive demand for them may be found in the fact that they are indiscriminately handed to small children who lose a great portion of them and millions pass out of use because they are laid down and disregarded as of no value, being pretty much of a nuisance to carry.

But those pennies minted last year, if they were all owned by one person would make him a millionaire several times over and enable him to put on airs that are ordinarily ascribed to the billionaire. If we had them about the first disposition we made of a few tens of thousands of them would be to donate them to cleaning up Portsmouth's alleys, which heaven knows, need to be cleaned badly enough.

THE MARRIED AVERAGE MAN

Athena and I resumed our discussion of "the family" over the tea-cups today. Athena is forgetting and I am remembering for the second time only a week ago, her daughter, Evie, blushed, having just distinguished herself by presenting to the world another son.

"How are they?" I asked, with a near interest.

"Splendid, both of them," smiled my beloved friend, blushing the blushing of her cat luxuriously. Athena is thin and can indulge in fatness. "Evie's like me; she doesn't make a fuss over trifles. I'm only afraid she'll have a dozen or so."

"What! On Philip's two thousand a year? See here, Anna, I'm an advocate of the complete, well-proportioned life, with no valuable experience left out. But heaven knows I'm not a fanatic. I think two healthy, well-cared-for children will be a happiness and inspiration to Evie and Philip. But twelve would be their ruin."

"My grandmother had fourteen," I put in mischievously.

"How many of them lived?" snapped Athena.

"Mmmmm, let me see; six, I think."

"There! You see? And your grandmother died at fifty, probably."

"At forty-five," I corrected. "She was married at sixteen. She was a pious woman who accepted her husband and children as part of the Divine Plan. She would have been unutterably shocked at the suggestion of regulating the size of her family. She considered it the gift of God."

"Well, aren't sickness and death gifts of God, too? Yet nobody thinks it sinful to prevent pneumonia or cure

New - York - Day - By - Day

BY
O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Harry Piller, a young east side boy, who gained fame as the dancing partner of Gaby Deslys, is humbling the Apollo wife in Paris now that American jazz music is further cementing French-American ties. His place is becoming a rendezvous. It is near the Montmartre district and Piller, who is appearing in a French revue next door, runs in between acts to dance with American sightseers.

The Apollo is trying to be a strictly Bohemian resort and with the hundreds of Americans going to Paris now—instead of New York—for an occasional fling young Piller is becoming richer by several thousands every week. Once a week Gaby shows up at the Apollo and dances with Piller and this proves a great drawing card. A negro crew of jazzers from Birmingham furnish the whirly, syncopated notes.

A writing friend returns from Paris to tell me that he saw a comic opera star, three writers, two pugilists and a novelist at tables at the Apollo and the place blue fair to be like the play run by a Swiss publican named Pfaff in the late forties. The restaurant was near the old Broadway Central hotel and it was the first of the Bohemian colonies in Gotham.

The chief attraction from the brilliant of the guests were panaches and beer and it was at Pfaff's that Georges Clemenceau visited often when he came to America long before he ever dreamed of world power. Among the other patrons were William Winter, foremost theatrical critic, E. C. Stedman, the poet, and James O'Brien, a gifted young Irish writer. Too, there was Aylesbury Ward, who found congenial company at Pfaff's.

Just as Pfaff came to America and founded a strictly Bohemian resort, so it is reported Piller is doing in Paris what his namesake did in New York. He is a product of Broadway and his manner and dress are typical of the street. He had the gayest scuffs and the loudest shrieking scarves along the thoroughfare. It is told that, in his most startling checkered suit and baldheaded to the side with the rainbow, Piller stood one day looking at the Grand Canyon.

A morning picture actor on his way west was going along with a guide when they came upon Piller. "What do you think of the scenery?" asked the guide with a wide sweep of his hand. The movie actor, unable to move on account of his fascination for Piller's clothes, replied: "Snappiest scenery I ever saw off Broadway."

Since every saloonkeeper on the East Side has decided that it is no use to hope only a few remain open. The big problem of the welfare workers is to provide some place for the men who played a game of cards or chess and drank a glass of beer in the back room of a saloon. Many of them, it is said, were steady workers who never indulged and had no other place to spend idle moments. Some have taken to moonshine whiskey. A noted saloon worker in an address the other night declared that now that prohibition was becoming an actual condition it was up to New York to provide places of recreation or poor men's clubs for those driven from saloons.

New York grammarians are all fussed up over the correctness of this sentence: "Alfred, than who a greater thing never reigned, deserves to be held up as a model to all future sovereigns." Grammar sharks say "whom" is wrong. It should be "who" and others state for sake of euphony it should be "whom." Others too say "whom" is correct. I think grammar depends upon surroundings. I know a man who broke up a pool game saying "Whom do I follow?" He was too zosh-awful educated for pool.

"Just a Minute"
 Only sixty seconds in it.
 Forced upon me; can't refuse it.
 Didn't seek it, didn't choose it.
 But it's up to me to use it.
 I must suffer if I lose it.
 Give account if I abuse it.
 Just a tiny little minute,
 But Eternity is in it.

Verger On a Parlor Rug.
 Our parlor rug was rugged when
 In years gone by, we'd buy a hen.
 And now, when buying chuck and sole,
 The dear old thing looks laughably old.

Silently bearing its years of strife,
 Being stepped on all its life,
 Something ought to be done, we know,
 But to prize a new one—what a blow!

You dear old worn-out rug!
 There is no chance that you will Abide;
 So keep on lying at our feet,
 While old and frayed, you're hard to Beat.

The Essentials
 "And so you learned French thoroughly while Over There, Son?" said the proud father of the returned soldier.

"Sure! I get so I could say Hello and good night and other lingo and eggs, and I could ask a fellow to lend me money and tell a girl I loved her better'n anything and that's all a fellow needs in no language!"—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Uncle Mose's Congratulations
 A young planter in Mississippi had an old servant called Uncle Mose, who had cared for him as a child and whose devotion had never waned. The young man became engaged to a girl of the neighborhood who had a reputation for unusual beauty and also for a very violent temper. Noticing that Uncle Mose never mentioned his approaching marriage, the planter said: "Mose, you know I am going to marry Miss Currier?"

"Yessuh, I knows it!"

"I haven't heard you say anything about it," persisted the planter.

"No, suh," said Mose. "Tain't got me to say nothin' 'bout it. I's got nothin' to say."

"But you must have some opinion about so important a step on my part!"

"Well, suh," said the old negro with some hesitation, "yo' knows one thing—the most pizenest snakes has got the most prettiest skins."

WHO'S WHO In The Days News

FRANCIS P. GARYAN
 Francis P. Garyan, who has been nominated by President Wilson to be assistant U. S. attorney general, was born in East Hartford, Conn., forty-four years ago, and was educated at Yale University and the New York Law School.

He was admitted to the New York bar in 1899, and two years later was appointed deputy assistant attorney of the county of New York by District Attorney Philip, in which capacity he served for eight years. For most of this period he had charge of the homicide bureau and insurance and commercial frauds, and assisted in the trials of Roland Molineux, Albert T. Patrick and Harry K. Thaw.

After William became district attorney Mr. Garyan became a member of the firm of Garyan & Armstrong and later of Osborne, Lamb & Garyan. In November, 1917, he was appointed director of the bureau of investigation in the attorney general's department, and in that capacity served as the assistant of A. Mitchell Palmer, the alien property custodian, until February, 1918, when he himself took over that work. In June, 1919, he was appointed special assistant attorney general of the United States and was placed in charge of the investigations of the activities of the anarchists.

He was married to a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony N. Brady in June, 1910.

Put It On His Hand
 Patience—You're engaged to Fred, aren't you?

Patrice—Yes; but I'm not happy.

"What's wrong?"

"I'm afraid he's selfish."

"Why say?"

"He asked me for my hand and I gave it to him."

"Of course."

"He didn't want it until I had given my hand to him that he put a diamond ring on my finger."

"Of course not. But how does that show selfishness?"

"Why, it was his hand, wasn't it?"—Yonkers Statesman.

Needless To Say
 "Oh! I can't thread this needle, ma."

"Was little Mary's cry."

"Just as the thread is going through."

"The needle winks its eye!"

BILLY WHISKERS

Of course, there was no answer from Billy Whiskers on the porch below when Mr. Wagner stuck his head out of the upstairs window and said, "Who's there?" Billy stood as still as possible to listen, and see what Mr. Wagner would do next. Then Billy walked to the edge of the porch and heard Mr. Wagner say again: "Who is there? Can't you answer, or are you deaf and dumb?"

Still no response, and Billy walked back and gave another lick at the bell, which immediately gave another loud ring. Mr. Wagner drew his head in and Billy heard him say, "I'll come down and break your stupid head for you, wakeful people up this time of the night!" When Billy heard this, he thought that it was time to go, so he scooted around the house and went and lay down by his rope, just as if he were still tied and had not stirred a peg.

Mr. Wagner opened the door, and finding no one there, walked around the house holding a candle over his head to see if some tramp had not rung the bell. He thought that he heard steps on the veranda as he came to the door, but as one was in sight only Billy Whiskers, apparently asleep by the shed.

"Hello! Billy, old fellow, how are you getting along? Seen anyone around here lately?"

But Billy only blinked and laughed.

Of course Mrs. Wagner said, "I told you so," several times, only varying it with, "Yes, you just wait and see, that goat will get into more trouble than he is worth, just see if he won't."

When she said this, she did not know of the midnight meal of her boy's lettuce he had had in the garden.

Billy did not get into much mischief during the remainder of the day, except chewing up the dish-rags which were hung on the lilac bush to dry, and all the flowers of the clematis.

A Fairy Tale
 A banker met a printer on the street and in criticizing him for his lack of business methods reminded him that he had not sent a bill for the last work done for his bank. The printer looked puzzled, and remarked, "Why, I chalked a memorandum of that charge on the pinshop door. We'll go down and look." And behold! The memo was not there, as the door had just been painted.

"Of course," said the speaker, you have guessed that this never really happened, for who ever heard of a print shop door being painted?"

Fred Winder, owner of Portsmouth's wharfboat which broke away early Sunday from the force of heavy ice said this morning that the last report he had was that the boat had been seen late yesterday on what is known as Kinney bar, which is about 14 miles down the river on the Ohio side. It is between Quincy and Harrison, Ky., and Mr. Winder will endeavor to make a trip today to investigate the report. It is thought that the boat is lodged on the bar.

Saturday morning was the first time the last broke away since January, 1918, when ice caused it to break loose eight times in one day. At that time the boat did not get away from the local river front. Last winter there was only a three days' run of light ice.

The river this morning showed a stage of 27.1 and falling. Ice piled about one-fourth of the stream and it was not as thick as that which passed here Sunday and Monday.

OBITUARY

Lafayette Foster

Death at three o'clock this morning claimed Lafayette Foster at the home of his son, Arthur Foster, 1837 Eighth street. He was 79 years of age and had been ill about six weeks with infirmities and complications. He retired from a farm near Mt. Zion, Ky., eleven years ago and came to this city. Lafayette Foster was born in Greenup county, Ky., and he spent most of his life there. For some years he was a farmer and was well known in the Mt. Zion community.

The deceased is survived by his wife, Sarah, and six children, Mrs. Minnie Glover, Frost, Ky., Mrs. George Laidley, New Boston, Arthur Foster, Eighth street, this city, Mrs. K. B. King, Oklahoma, O., C. Foster, Texas, and L. A. Foster, Kansas. All children were at his bedside when the end came except Mrs. King. Mr. Foster was a member of Mt. Zion M. E. church.

The body will be shipped to Mt. Zion tomorrow morning and the service will be held there at one o'clock tomorrow afternoon, with burial in Mt. Zion cemetery.

Henry Zeune Funeral

The funeral of Henry Zeune of Long Run will be held at one o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Long Run U. B. church with Rev. Weaver and Rev. George Brandau in charge. The hour was changed from two to one o'clock. Mr. Zeune died at the home of his son, William Zeune, Saturday.

John Samuel Ashbaugh

Between the years of 1847 and 1920 marked the span of life of John Samuel Ashbaugh. He was born in Highland county, Ohio, March 2, 1847, and his journey ended Jan. 6th, 1920, he being 72 years, 10 months and 4 days of age.

There is no death. What seems so is transition. This life of mortal breath, is but the suburbs of the life elysian. Whose portals we call Death.

March 2, 1867, he was united in marriage to Maria L. Woodal, to which union was born five daughters and one son:—Corra and Mrs. Frances Wilcox, who died, aged six and sixteen, respectively, and Mrs. Irene Power, Mrs. Kate Power, of Portsmouth, O.; Mrs. Eva Dick, Waverly, O., and Merrill W. Columbus, O.; also three grandchildren, Mildred and Paul Ashbaugh, and Beatrice Dick; besides the widow, three sisters, Mrs. Rachel Wortman of Portsmouth, Mrs. Maggie Preizer, R. R. Flats, California, Mrs. Sabina Bond, Knobel, Ark., and one brother, Jacob H. Ashbaugh Knobel, Ark., still survive.

With only a common school education, he developed into a man of integrity and prominence in his community, his motto being "that an honest man is the noblest work of God."

He was a lover of the rural life and its improvement, throwing a strong, resourceful enthusiasm into the Grange, of which order he held the office of master for many terms. He was a man of good judgment, quick decision, honest dealing and generous to a fault. Because of a happy, loving disposition makes the pang of separation sharper and the loss to all the greater, and with heavy hearts we give him up and bid him farewell.

"I know not what the future hath, Of marvel or surprise, Assured alone that life and death His mercy underlies."

And so beside the silent sea I wait the hushed air. No harm from Him can come to me On ocean or on shore.

I know not where His islands lift Their trodden palms in air; I only know I cannot drift Beyond His love and care."

The deceased was a brother of the late David Ashbaugh of Gay street, Portsmouth, O.

The funeral was held at his late residence near Waverly, O., on Friday. Services were conducted by Rev. Fisher of Waverly. Interment at Greenlawn cemetery.

TUE FAMILY.

Mrs. Sarah Herald
Mrs. Sarah Herald widow of the late Helen Herald died Monday afternoon at the home of her nephew John Hughes 1015 Front street after a three months illness of cancer of the stomach. Mrs. Herald resided at 2448 Eighth street but was removed to the home of her nephew five weeks ago.

The deceased was born in Carter county, Ky., and was 51 years of age when claimed by death. She came to this city about 19 years ago and three years later her husband Helen Herald was claimed by death.

Mrs. Herald is survived by a sister, Mrs. Susan McKinney of Clearwater, Minn., a half sister Mrs. Kate Allen, Second street, and a half brother, Gable Hughes of Third street, this city.

Mrs. Herald was a member of the First Christian church but had not been able to attend in recent years on account of failing health.

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon from the home with Walter Hughes in charge in the absence of Rev. Charles H. Oakley. Burial in Greenlawn.

THE FAMILY.

Humorist Here Tonight; Wants A Multitude To Hear Him

Ralph Bingham, famous humorist and author, will appear as the fifth number on the Elementary Lecture Course at the High School this evening. The entertainment starts at 8 o'clock. Mr. Bingham is a real entertainer and no doubt will be greeted by a large audience.

In a letter to Professor Appel he humorously describes how he will look when he comes and also that a multitude come to hear him.

The letter follows:
Supt. Frank Appel, Portsmouth, O.
Dear Sir:—My entire company, consisting of one wife, two girls and a tightly rolled umbrella, will arrive in Portsmouth at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow the 13th on the C. & O. R. R. from Huntington, W. Va. You can tell which is I and which the umbrella, for I'll be wearing a partly clean shirt.

We use a piano in time—if that's not against the law in Portsmouth, and on top of the stage, and to the left as one faces the multitude—kindly see that there is a multitude.

Reserve good room at the Hotel Washington, if you please.

Yours sincerely,
RALPH BINGHAM.

P. S.—Don't forget the multitude.

LOCAL PEOPLE TO ATTEND BANQUET

Everything is set for the big sportsmen's congress and banquet in Columbus January 15th. There will be an afternoon and an evening program, with a banquet at six p. m. Speakers of national reputation in the work of game conservation will be on the program, and Governor Cox will address the sportsmen in the evening.

The assembly will be held at the Elks' home on East Second street instead of Hotel Insler as first announced. At least 1,000 sportsmen and farmers are expected. One of the leading objects of this meeting is to bring about a friendly cooperation and better understanding between farmers and sportsmen in fish and game matters, and the movement for "More Game and Better Fishing," that is being instituted by A. C. Sawyer, Chief of the Bureau of Fish and Game.

The Ohio Fish and Game Museum, which has been made by the Bureau of Fish and Game during the present year, will be shown for the first time at this meeting.

New Closing Ordinance Is Ordered Prepared

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Jan. 13.—As a climax to a stormy session of the city council, yesterday morning, Mayor C. W. Campbell directed the city solicitor to prepare a new Sunday closing ordinance that will divert the executive of certain business and discretionary powers from him by the council ordinance of 1917, repeal of which was sought by council of fourteen delegates recently held into police court.

City Solicitor Deegan was directed to have a new ordinance ready for action next Monday and was told to eliminate those features, which, in the opinion of the city attorney, were in excess of the basic state law, and to insert such clauses as would, in the opinion of the city attorney, make it conform to the fundamental state constitution.

Druggists were blocked in their move to secure repeal of the 1917 act, when Commissioner Miller and the city council voted to prepare a new ordinance until a new ordinance could be drafted or until a decision could be handed down by the state court as to the validity of the ordinance under the constitution. The ordinance under the constitution is the 1917 ordinance, which was passed by the council in 1917, and which was challenged by the druggists.

The new ordinance, it was indicated yesterday morning, will not contain the clause which says the mayor in his discretion may permit certain classes of cream parlors, fruit stands, and certain other institutions to remain open on Sunday. The inclusion of such a clause in the 1917 ordinance constituted one of the principal points of attack of counsel for the druggists yesterday.

It was clear that the mayor intended no recission from his attitude the Sunday law enforcement is good for the people. This was shown when he sought to forestall a vote by the council to repeal the 1917 ordinance. He succeeded in convincing enough voters to forestall action yesterday morning, but was unable to prevent a vote which indicated the attitude of the commissioners.

The vote followed a demand by Attorney H. H. Darnall, counsel for druggists recently haled into police court for repeal of the 1917 ordinance. He directed the council to prepare a new ordinance until a new ordinance could be drafted or until a decision could be handed down by the state court as to the validity of the ordinance under the constitution. The ordinance under the constitution is the 1917 ordinance, which was passed by the council in 1917, and which was challenged by the druggists.

The new ordinance, it was indicated yesterday morning, will not contain the clause which says the mayor in his discretion may permit certain classes of cream parlors, fruit stands, and certain other institutions to remain open on Sunday. The inclusion of such a clause in the 1917 ordinance constituted one of the principal points of attack of counsel for the druggists yesterday.

It was clear that the mayor intended no recission from his attitude the Sunday law enforcement is good for the people. This was shown when he sought to forestall a vote by the council to repeal the 1917 ordinance. He succeeded in convincing enough voters to forestall action yesterday morning, but was unable to prevent a vote which indicated the attitude of the commissioners.

The vote followed a demand by Attorney H. H. Darnall, counsel for druggists recently haled into police court for repeal of the 1917 ordinance. He directed the council to prepare a new ordinance until a new ordinance could be drafted or until a decision could be handed down by the state court as to the validity of the ordinance under the constitution.
